Background

In order to compensate loss for the tangible as well as intangible benefits of the forest land, which need diversion for non-forest use, the Hon'ble Supreme court of India directed the creation of a 'Compensatory Afforestation Fund' (CAF) in which all the funds received from the user agencies would be deposited for carrying out compensatory afforestation and allied activities such as catchment area treatment, improvement of biodiversity values, wildlife corridor management etc. Further, till the establishment of CAMPA in the State under proper stipulated mechanism, the Hon'ble Supreme court constituted the 'Ad-hoc' CAMPA in 2006 to operationalize the activities. In the States, an authority known as the State Compensatory Afforestation Fund Management and Planning Authority (State CAMPA) implements and oversees all the compensatory afforestation activities.

M&E Methodology

The present monitoring and assessment report is an attempt to carry out performance evaluation of the CAMPA activities undertaken by Arunachal Pradesh in the period of 2011-12, 2012-13 and 2013-14 with the following objectives:

- i. Monitoring and Evaluation of CAMPA schemes implemented during 2011-12, 2012-13 and 2013-14
- ii. Development of key performance indicators and finalization of the same with consultation with CAMPA authority
- iii. Data collection and collation
- iv. Carrying out comprehensive outcome, focused impact, evaluation of the schemes.

In the assessment period, the State has implemented activities under the major categories like plantations, construction of office buildings, barracks and residential quarters, purchase of arms and ammunition, vehicles, erection of chain link fencing, boundary walls, etc.

The assessment was carried out through several verifiable performance indicators appropriate for the particular activity with a view to assess their effectiveness in obtaining the aims and objectives of CAMPA. These performance indicators were developed in such a way that it can also analyze the comprehensive output/outcome based impacts of State CAMPA activities. During field evaluation, teams visited all the 4 Zones (Western Arunachal Circle, Central Arunachal Circle, Eastern Arunachal Circle & Southern Arunachal Circle) covering all the forest divisions. Under the different categories of infrastructure developments, buildings/infrastructures were evaluated by the assessment teams and chain link fencing, barbed wire fencing and boundary walls were also visited and physically verified.

Assessment Findings

The CAMPA activities have been ranked on a ten-point scale into the four categories provided below:

Scores of the divisions	Inference
Below 4	* Highly unsatisfactory, indicating major deficiency in operations; possible cause due to operational inefficiency or lack of sufficient monitoring mechanism,
4 to 6	 Makes grade but not satisfactory; individual parameters needs improvement by concentrating on individual matrices. Unless checked in time, ratings and performance could potentially degrade to an unsatisfactory level;
6 to 8	 Satisfactory; meets basic requirements and adherence to the objective, potential for improvement to achieve excellence exists; higher concentration on individual parameters and regular MRV could elevate score to highly satisfactory level.
Above 8	* Highly satisfactory performance meets all project objectives and achieve above 80% satisfactory requirements in majority of parameters assessed.

Total budget outlay for the CAMPA activities was Rs.2881.975 lakhs for the year 2011-12; Rs 2598.280 lakhs for 2012-13 and Rs 4310.260 lakhs for 2013-14. One of the major activities carried out under CAMPA scheme was creation of plantation. To raise plantations, different advance nurseries were also established in order to meet the seedling requirement. The advance nurseries were visited for evaluation. In cases where seedlings have already been transplanted in the field, the nursery work were evaluated on the basis of official records and photographs.

Among the plantation raised during the year 2011-12, the highest survival rate of plantation was observed (70%) in Dirgha range (Banderdewa Forest Division), Raga & Tale valley Range (Hapoli Forest Division) and Kurum Kumey forest division. The lowest survival rate (45%) was observed in Doimukh Range under Banderdewa forest division.

In 2012-13, the highest survival rate of plantation was observed (78%) in Nari Range under Pasighat Forest Division and the lowest survival rate (50%) was observed in Mopaya, Dirok under Deomali Forest Division. Similarly, in 2013 -14 the highest survival rate of plantation were observed (72.42%) in Lirmoba range under Along Forest Division and the lowest survival rate (15%) was observed at Thinsa under Khonsa Forest Division.

One of the defects observed in almost all the plantation sites was overgrowth of weeds. Weed growth is profuse in high rainfall area like Arunachal Pradesh, and this needs to be contained, if the plantation has to succeed. As explained by the field officials, the maintenance activities like weeding, fencing repair, casualty replacement etc. could not be carried out due to non release of fund in time. Efforts are also needed for proper maintenance of plantation journal.

The civil construction works in all the division were physically verified and found to be satisfactory in most of the cases. However, in some places the electrification work, painting of wall, etc were not completed. Maintenance and renovation works were carried out satisfactorily.

During the period different programmes were also organized to create awareness on different environmental issues through awareness camps, Forest Festivals, etc. The expenditure incurred in the above activities were verified only from official records.

1. Introduction

1.1 Background

As per the Forest (Conservation) Act, 1980, whenever forest land is to be diverted for non-forestry purpose usually the conditions relating to transfer, mutation and declaration as Reserve Forest/Protected Forest, equivalent non forest land for compensatory afforestation and funds for raising compensatory afforestation etc. are compulsory. For mining purposes additional conditions like maintaining a safety zone area, fencing and regeneration etc. and for major and medium irrigation projects, catchment area treatment plans are to be stipulated.

Compensatory Afforestation involves identification of non-forest land or degraded forest land, work schedule, cost structure of plantation, provision of funds, mechanism to ensure the utilization of funds and monitoring mechanism etc. Hence, it is one of the most important conditions stipulated by the Central Government while approving proposals for de-reservation or diversion of forest land for non-forest use. It is essential that with all such proposals, a comprehensive scheme for compensatory afforestation is formulated and submitted to the Central Government. The comprehensive scheme is to include the details of non-forest/degraded forest area identified for compensatory afforestation, map of area to be taken up for compensatory afforestation, year wise phased forestry operations, details of species to be planted and a suitability certificate from afforestation/management point of view along with the cost structure of various operations.

1.2 Guidelines on State Compensatory Afforestation Fund Management and Planning Authority (State CAMPA)

The Hon'ble Supreme Court's vide its order dated 29 October 2002, advocated for an independent system of concurrent monitoring to be evolved and implemented through the Compensatory Afforestation Fund to ensure effective and proper utilization of fund. Again in July 2009, the Supreme Court had directed that five per cent of the amount released to the State CAMPA shall also be released and utilized by the National CAMPA Advisory Council, for monitoring and evaluation of schemes implemented in the State/ UT utilizing CAMPA money, setting up of institutes, societies, centre of excellence in the field of forest and wildlife, pilot schemes, standardization of codes/ guidelines, etc., for the sector.

Ministry of Environment & Forests (presently, Ministry of Environment, Forests & Climate Change) in July 2009 framed State CAMPA guidelines for establishing CAMPAs in the States/ UTs and putting in place a funding mechanism for enhancing forest and tree cover and conservation and management of wildlife by utilizing funds received towards Compensatory Afforestation, Catchment Area Treatment, Net Present Value, etc. currently available with Ad-hoc CAMPA. As per the guidelines, State CAMPA should seek to promote:

- a) conservation, protection, regeneration and management of existing natural forests;

- b) conservation, protection and management of wildlife and its habitat within and outside protected areas including the consolidation of the protected areas;
- c) compensatory afforestation;
- d) environmental services, which include:-
 - i. provision of goods such as wood, non-timber forest products, fuel, fodder and water, and provision of services such as grazing, tourism, wildlife protection and life support;
 - ii. regulating services such as climate regulation, disease control, flood moderation, detoxification, carbon sequestration and health of soils, air and water regimes;
 - iii. non-material benefits obtained from ecosystems, spiritual, recreational, aesthetic, inspirational, educational and symbolic; and
 - iv. supporting such other services necessary for the production of ecosystem services, biodiversity, nutrient cycling and primary production.
- e) Research, training and capacity building.

State CAMPA, Arunachal Pradesh has undertaken hill top plantation, compensatory afforestation, Capacity development, forest protection, soil & moisture conservation measures, water harvesting structures, and other allied works through the assistance of Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change (Ad-hoc CAMPA), Govt. of India, New Delhi in four Forest Zones situated all over Arunachal Pradesh. Rain Forest Research Institute (RFRI), Jorhat was assigned by the Department of Environment & Forests, Govt. of Arunachal Pradesh to undertake a monitoring and evaluation study of various activities undertaken by Arunachal Pradesh CAMPA to assess the overall implementation of compensatory afforestation in Arunachal Pradesh.

1.3 Details of Project Location

Arunachal Pradesh, situated between 26°28'N to 29°30'N latitude and 91°30' E to 97°30' E longitude is bounded by Assam in the south, Nagaland in the southeast, Myanmar in the east, Bhutan in the west and Tibet in the north. It has a geographical area of 83,743 km² making up 2.55 % of the total area of the country. The state is divided into two major physiographic regions i.e., Himalayas and the Brahmaputra Valley. The western and central regions of Arunachal Pradesh represent the eastern extremity of the Himalayas; while in the eastern part, the lesser Himalayan ranges meet the tangled terrain of the Patkai Hills. A remarkable range of topography, altitude, soil, rainfall, and climate resulted in one of the last bastions of diversity and an exceptional heritage in the state. Several factors have contributed to the fact that this rich legacy has survived, and continues to sustain the land, the people and the forests.

5 Recommendations

- Plantation at Hill top needs regular monitoring
- Hill top plantation in many places is affected by wild animals, suitable measures may be adopted to discourage grazing.
- Fixing a proper signboard for each of the activities must be ensured.
- Barbed wire fencing is needed in many sites.
- Regular patrolling is required to stop encroachment and illicit felling inside as well as in adjacent plantations for long-term security to the recent CAMPA plantations.
- The plantation activities in remote areas may be provided with approach roads and watch and ward facilities.
- Regular or timely release of fund may be ensured for timely weeding and casualty replacement.
- Regular or timely release of fund must be ensured for timely payment of watch and ward.
- Plantation journal should be regularly maintained and ensure its availability during assessment.
- Cultural operations and other management aspects should be taken in difficult site
- Present fencing is almost damaged and required speedy maintenance.
- Protection measures are not sufficient; more care would be needed.
